PREFACE

This Bibliography attempts to include all works of professional interest published in America or by Americans anywhere during 1958, in the entire field of Slavic and East European studies. The Bibliography for 1956 covered thoroughly only the humanities. The Bibliography for 1957 was expanded to cover the social sciences as well as the humanities, because of the strong feeling expressed by many specialists and by editors of learned journals, not only in the social sciences but also in the humanities, that there should be a thorough annual American bibliography of Slavic and East European studies. The Bibliography for 1957 was so well received that it has been decided for the Bibliography for 1958 and subsequent annual Bibliographies to continue to cover both the social sciences and the humanities in the Slavic and East European field.

Scope. The Bibliography lists books and articles, but not reviews, unless the review is substantial enough to be considered an independent article. Belles-lettres are included only in cases of scholarly or textbook editions. "America" for the purposes of this Bibliography includes all the Americas, and "Americans" included not only all who have permanent residence in this hemisphere, but also specialists who taught or resided here during 1958.

Use of the Bibliography. All books and articles listed were published during 1958, unless there is a specific indication otherwise. Numerals in square brackets [] refer to item numbers in this Bibliography. Authors are indexed under an Anglicized transliteration, when such a transliteration appears in the Bibliography proper. The Bibliography has been divided into eleven different major topics or disciplines, with some combinations for convenience. As the Table of Contents shows, for the social sciences individual countries are treated under each major heading in a sequence beginning with the Soviet Union and proceeding in an arc from Finland to Greece and Albania; for the humanities, classification is by language family, going from Slavic to Baltic, to Other Indo-European, and ending with Non-Indo-European.

Latin-alphabet spellings in titles have been strictly followed, though this has resulted in numerous instances (e.g., with Dostoevskij) in a number of different spellings of names in the text. Titles of books and articles in Cyrillic have been transliterated, using the system followed in The Slavic and East European Journal.

Titles in languages other than English are given in translation only when this translation appears on or opposite the title page or contents page of the work. The technical style of the Bibliography follows that of the Annual Bibliographies of the Publications of the Modern Language Association of America.

Collaborators. This Bibliography has been made possible by the co-operation of a committee of seventeen callaborators, with the following areas of principal responsibility:

Geography: Norman J. G. Pounds, Indiana University

History: Robert F. Byrnes, Indiana University

Future Bibliographies. It is planned for future annual Bibliographies of Slavic and East European Studies that there be two editors, one for the humanities, and one for the social sciences. In the meantime, the present editor requests that specialists send to him reprints, copies of publications, and bibliographical information about their 1959 publications, for inclusion in the next bibliography. It is particularly urged that American scholars report their publications abroad. If specialists will notify the Editor of any inadvertent omissions of items which should have been included in this Bibliography, they will be included next year, with notation of the proper publication date.

Not only do many non-American scholars and specialists publish in America and hence come under the scope of this Bibliography, but many residents of America publish abroad. This latter group have often been difficult to identify with assurance. It will be appreciated if any errors of inclusion—or of any other kind—will be called to the attention of the editor. If a scholar prefers a particular Anglicized spelling of his name, this spelling will be used henceforth, if he will inform the editor.

The editor acknowledges with gratitude the support of the Indiana University Research Committee and the Editorial Committee of the Graduate School Slavic and East European Series, who made possible the publication of this Bibliography. He would also like to thank each of the collaborators and also Professor Geo. Winchester Stone, Jr., Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association of America, for making it possible to include the listings which have already appeared in the PMLA "1958 Annual Bibliography." In addition, the committee would like to express thanks to those members of the profession who sent journals, books, reprints of articles, and bibliographical data for inclusion, and also to the following individuals who provided assistance: Eugene E. Pantzer, Library of Congress; Natalia Pazuniak, University of Pennsylvania; and Joseph Backor, Thomas Pocklington, and Irving R. Jones, Indiana University.
